U.S. Currency Headaches Start Early

That old tourist season problem—American coins—has hit Victoria earlier than usual this year.

Many shoppers complained yesterday that they were taking a beating in trying to spend U.S. 50-cent pieces.

They said that because of the 5½ per cent discount rate, small stores refused the coins—the same coins they had received in their change from a department store.

"We accept it at par," a store official said, adding that it was common practice to hand out U.S. silver.

"There's no reason for panic unless department and other large stores discounted them," he said.

It's Pancake Time Again!

TEN SHAKES AND IT'S DONE! This young lady knows that, when baking that February 10th batch of pancakes, a plastic or glass shaker saves time and fuss when mixing the batter.

During the Lenten Season each year, pancakes just naturally seem to take the spotlight. It is possibly for this reason that a special day was originally set aside for pancakes—Pancake Day. This year Pancake Day falls on February 10th, which is, as always, a Tuesday. The occasion always falls on the seventh Tuesday before Easter, and is a celebration as old as any on the calendar.

Pancakes have lived through the ages as a special Lenten food because of the symbolic ingredients in them: milk for innocence, eggs for sacredness, flour for the staff of life and salt for wholesomeness. Of course, many changes have taken place in the kitchen since the original development of this simple recipe. A special pancake flour has been developed to give greater lightness and fluffiness to the pancakes—and the modern housewife is no longer content to serve pancakes in their original form alone, but uses many tempting variations of this long time favorite.

But, whatever the recipe, whatever the variation, you can be sure that wives and mothers all over Canada will be serving pancakes to their families on Tuesday, February 10, in traditional observance of one of the world's most pleasant celebrations—Pancake Day!
